Rayhan Usmanu

Computer Science major at Lehman College

About Me

I am a hardworking African American Muslim from New York City, currently pursuing a Computer Science degree at Lehman College. Alongside my studies, I serve as a US Army reservist with certifications as an IT Specialist. I have experience in computer networking, configuring routers and switches, and software installation. I am passionate about software development, website building, and cybersecurity, and I aim to combine my technical skills with military leadership as I work toward commissioning as a US Army officer.

My Certifications

Google IT Support   Google Cybersecurity
